

From the Spring 2025 Michigan Public Policy Survey

Michigan local leaders are more concerned about revenues, but less interested in local tax options

1 Few local officials say Michigan's system for funding local government is adequate

2 Support for introducing or increasing local tax options has declined since 2016

3 A majority of local officials believe their residents prefer service cuts to tax hikes, except for public safety

